

A Bush Creek man was killed in a two-vehicle collision on Wednesday morning on the 100th anniversary of Dryden Valley last Wednesday morning.

James Allan Deegan, 55, of Bush Creek, is believed to have died instantly after his car was struck by a loaded dump truck, according to Dryden Valley police.

Cat. Henry Provo of the local department says the dump truck was traveling south on Highway 100 when it struck a bush creek car. The accident was caused by the southbound car's failure to stop at the intersection, according to Henry M. Binkham of Windfall. Mr. Deegan was southbound on the gravel road.

"Both vehicles collided on the gravel road," Binkham says. "The vehicles rolled, probably more than once." Cat. Provo says the dump truck, carrying a full load of pile run gravel, hit the ditch on the north side of the road, and the dump truck flipped completely over. Cat. Provo said the south side of the road is the front end of the truck.

Cat. Provo says Mr. Deegan "was probably killed instantly." The driver's seat contained minor cuts to the head. He was transported to the Valley hospital and released.

According to Cat. Provo, the driver of the dump truck could have led to the accident, as both drivers had the right of way at the intersection.

"Even if the driver of the dump truck had the right of way," Cat. Provo says. (Continued on page 2)

Notes:

Grievance procedure available

By Dale Lanan
Drayton Valley's town manager wants to improve upon the employees of the Town that there is a standard grievance procedure, contained in the existing work policy, which outlines routes to follow if employees have a complaint.

last week of Felix Weninger from the Town's public works department, and Mr. Weninger's subsequent letter to the Western Review. Mr. Ducl expressed concern about the number of employees who quit and take their complaints to the paper.

plaints to the public, because we have no opportunity to see if we can solve the complaint and keep the employee, which is all we want to do," Mr. Deol says.

Mr. Deol says personal reasons for quitting should not result in a trip to the newspaper, nor should they have problems to the town administration, or immediate superiors, the employee would be able to ascertain what the administration is doing about certain problems, because the Town "holds meetings all the time about problem areas," Mr. Deol says.

Under the existing work policy between the Town and its employees, workers with a grievance should first bring it to the attention of a supervisor or foreman.

"In effect, they have five levels of grievance action they can resort to; they don't have to quit and go to the newspaper with their problems," Mr. Deal says.

Hope for rain

In the weeks ahead the RCMP will be charging first offenders rather than simply warning those drivers who have committed driving infractions in school zones.

This is an attempt to encourage people to pay attention while driving near schools, say RCMP.

They hope people will drive with care now that the schools are back in operation.

Adult volunteers are needed by the RCMP to help with safety patrols for school children.

The volunteers are needed at four different times during the day.

Equipment for the patrols will be supplied by the RCMP. Also, volunteers will receive on-the-job training from the police.

Patrols are needed for the corner of 50th St. and 60th Ave., outside of St. Anthony School and Elementary B.

nothing to complain about," he says.

However, it is the employees who quit and then complain to the paper about poor morale or personality conflicts who pose the biggest problem.

In those cases, Mr. Deol says, the Town doesn't have the chance to see if the complaints are justified before everybody in town knows about the problem.

As well, by bringing any rain, forests in the Dryden Valley area remain quite dry, says a spokesman for the Alberta Forest Service.

Franco Munnik, fire watch officer at the Elk River tower, said Monday that although the fire hazard is presently low it could change with two or three days of dry weather.

"If the weather warms up then the fire danger could return to high," he said.

Although approximately 14 millimeters of rain fell

The rain only served to decrease the fire hazard for a few days, said Mr. Munnik.

He added that so far the forestry service has been lucky that there have been no lightning strikes.

In the past week two small fires had to be put out but neither one was out of control. One was an abandoned campfire which wasn't properly extinguished and the other was

Mr. Musnick warned that the real danger will begin with the start of hunting season when more people start camping in the woods.

It is also the time of year when the grass dries and begins to dry, increasing the fire hazard, he added.

The only thing which will alleviate the situation is rain.

"We're hoping for a couple of weeks of wet weather," he said.

Kids encountered plenty of warning signs as they made their journey through Mirkwood last Friday. They also encountered hobbits, dwarfs, wizards, elves and a host of other strange characters.

The play was close as the Easyford Colts and Drayton Valley Oilers clashed last week to decide the Offfield Baseball League championship. In the end, the Colts came out on top.

Consortium begins classes soon

Classes will begin in the Drayton Valley Regional Educational Consortium facilities by early October. The consortium, which is presently using classroom space in local schools, hopes to start moving to its own classrooms and office space by the end of September.

The consortium co-ordinator, Brian Miskelly, plans for the consortium to include four classrooms, a library, a counselling centre, a student lounge and administrative offices.

The new facility, located in Drayton Valley's Industrial Park, will be used to house many of the courses offered by the consortium. Courses range from vocational to university program.

All present the consortium will be offering four courses. These include truck driving, accounting for small business, stock trading and a Canadian history course.

The courses offered are courses which were heavily in demand, says Mr. Miskelly. He added that the mandate of the consortium is to provide education for all the elements of the community. If an interest is expressed then it is the duty of the consortium to look into the feasibility of teaching that course.

The community has shown interest in a wide range of topics, says Mr. Miskelly. The consortium has already received inquiries on approximately 275 different topics.

These topics show different levels of interest and it is the job of the consortium to refine this information and collation kills...

(Continued from page 1) releases, they definitely would have seen the dust from the road," he says. Variability was good at the time of the accident, and there are no trees near the intersection.

RCMP in Drayton Valley are conducting their investigation into the accident, and no charges have been laid.

HAZARDOUS WASTES EVERYONE'S CONCERN

Find Out What Alberta Plans To Do About Hazardous Wastes

Hazardous wastes are a concern to all of us. Your future, your children's future and the quality of life in your community depend on how we plan today to manage potentially hazardous household and industrial wastes.

The Hazardous Wastes Implementation Team is presenting an information and site selection program throughout the province. Public approval and proper planning at this time can provide the facilities to handle these special wastes. Take part.

ESCAPING WITH THE treasure was no easy task, for dragons prove Pringle's play, Journey to Mirkwood. (photo by HERNANDO GARCIA)

Mirkwood was a success

The dragons had been slain and the treasure divided through Mirkwood. Children attending the play became a band of dwarfs who helped Thorin Oakenshield (the king of the dwarfs) recover his treasure. The children, along with Thorin, Gandalf the Wizard and Bilbo Baggins travelled through Mirkwood fighting off hungry trolls and giant spiders in order to reach the treasure which was faithfully guarded by a dragon. however, were too young for the play and became frightened by the characters. Although the actors specifically asked for children between six and nine years of age, many parents brought three, four and five-year-olds, says Mr. Bessley. The cast, however, was not the only group who was pleased. For as one little boy told his parents he actually told them how he was going to spend his share of the treasure and held some chocolate coins for them to see.

Drayton a good place to start: RCMP officer

Drayton Valley is a good place to get started, according to one of the RCMP officers at the local detachment.

Constable Jeff Smith, 28, has been with the detachment for approximately four months. Drayton Valley is his first posting since joining the police force.

He received his RCMP training in Regina and is from Smith Current, Sask.

According to Constable Smith, citizens have been fairly slack since he came to the area.

Drayton Valley is "pretty quiet so far so police work goes," he says.

Constable Smith, who was recently married, plans staying in Drayton Valley for a few years.

Enumeration

Province counts heads

A province-wide general enumeration will be held from Sept. 15 to 20, announced chief electoral officer Ken Wark last week. During the two-week period, enumerators will be knocking on doors throughout the 79 provincial constituencies gathering the names of qualified voters to compile the list of electors for use in any future provincial general election, by-election or referendum.

A qualified elector in Alberta is a person 18 years of age or older on October 1, 1981, and a Canadian citizen who has lived in the province for at least six months. Persons who are under 18 at the time of the enumeration should contact the Canadian Citizenship Court in Edmonton, Calgary or Fort McMurray and be prepared when the enumeration date.

For eligible voters who are not enumerated during the house-to-house visits in September, Mr. Wark reminds that there will be a second chance when returning officers hold revisional visits in October 15, 18 and 19, at which time

Youth lifted from the bush

A 17-year-old youth was shifted out of the bush with a broken leg following a motorcycle accident late Sunday afternoon.

Allen Debus of Calgary received the injury while he and two companions were working on 30 miles from Leduc.

According to RCMP, Mr. Debus's motorcycle was able to take out of the bush and phone for help at forestry station.

Attempts to enter the area by four-wheel drive vehicles failed and the youth had to be taken out by helicopter. A forestry helicopter was brought in from Rocky Mountain Forest and was in the rescue operation.

Mr. Debus was taken out at 8 p.m. that evening and was directly to Leduc hospital, says RCMP.

ADS course

Prepare for emergency

Preparing local residents to handle an emergency situation is the main purpose of the ADS course. However, that is it open to anyone who is interested in learning more procedures.

The Drayton Valley course will take place in the trailer facilities behind the Town hall, and will run from 7:30 to 10 p.m. on each of the four evenings.

John Dykes, municipal director of disaster services, says the training program is basically a pre-emptive measure.

"We hold these courses every so often so that we have a nucleus of people familiar with rescue procedures to ease there is some kind of disaster," Mr. Dykes says.

Areas it will cover include basic first aid and organization of a rescue service; the use and care of ropes and lifting apparatus; construction of dikes; "A" frames and bridge building; and rescue from heights.

Mr. Dykes says the program is commonly used to train people who might need to use rescue techniques in their jobs, such as firefighters and ambulance attendants. The ads course is held by the Canadian Red Cross and is a free course.

For more information on the basic rescue course contact Bob Dykes at 542-5857.

$6000 damage

Approximately $6,000 in damage occurred when a truck burst into flames at the junction of the Leduc road and Highway 22 last August 27. The truck, which was owned by the Canadian Northwest Carrier Corporation of Sherwood Park, caught fire as the driver was travelling from Leduc to Highway 22.

Edward Hainis, the driver of the 1975 Kenworth, stopped the truck after noticing that the back was on fire.

He unhooked the trailer and tried to extinguish the blaze.

County police, who happened on the scene, refused information about the blaze to Drayton Valley. The fire department was able to put out the fire.

According to an investigation by the fire department, the fire was caused by a fire which caused approximately $6,000 worth of damage. The fire began at the back of the truck when it was travelling on the Leduc road early last Wednesday morning. (photo by Sharon Dill)

Meeting in D.V.

Implication of waste

A massive campaign is being run by the Rural Education Development Association (REDA) to educate people on the potentially dangerous implications of hazardous waste in Alberta.

The Hazardous Waste Towns will host a public meeting in Dryden Valley on September 9 at 8 p.m. in the Rec Hall.

Under the direction of the HWT, the association is organizing a massive campaign in communities throughout the province, attempting to explain the threats to anyone who'll listen.

According to HWT, Alberta has an estimated 50,000 tonnes of hazardous waste materials, including various oils, chemicals, acids, solvents and sludges. The town says these materials can leak into the surface and, in the Rec Hall.

Under the direction of the HWT, the association is organizing a massive campaign in communities throughout the province, attempting to explain the government into taking action.

Formed by environment minister Jack Chomson as part of a four-day Hazardous Waste Implementation Program, the town is working to find the best possible methods of industrial waste management. They believe an integrated waste management system is the answer.

A well organized system, says HWT, would provide treatment and disposal facilities and other ways to monitor and control the output of hazardous waste, thus greatly reducing our environment. Their recommendations will be submitted to government before April, 1982.

The town is now coming on public support to get a proper waste management system initiated in Alberta.

HWT chairman Merv MacKenzie says, "there's still time in Alberta to establish an efficient system that will benefit communities, assist industry and protect our environment."

Constitution campaign

that "all changes to our constitution except for one involving territory should be made in Canada, by Canada."

Frank Longhead, who had earlier threatened to call a snap federal election on the constitution issue, said the poll results show there is no need for a new mandate at the time. He left the door open for an early trip to the polls, saying that "new circumstances" might come up.

Fighting to the best of his ability to prevent further amendments, Longhead said on Tuesday to initiate further meetings with the premier. The Alberta premier also pointed out the poll shows the eight provinces have more public support than Trudeau and his two provincial opponents, Ontario's William Davis and New Brunswick's Richard Hatfield.

At their B.C. meeting, the eight premiers apparently decided to intensify their Canadian campaign of opposition to Trudeau's plans. They had previously indicated they would be heading to London to lobby against the referendum plan but there was apparently some fear that lack of an all-out Canadian offensive might make them appear like outside looking in to another country for support.

Longhead said two weeks attention was being paid to the London plans that public opinion in Canada was the key to the provincial position.

"It's important for us to make sure that Canadians are well informed that Mr. Trudeau is unilaterally trying to change the constitution, so that this becomes a much more centralized action and much less of a behind-the-scenes" Longhead said.

Excuses, excuses, excuses

By Col. Doug Hill
There are times of the year when I am positive that this type of incident has happened to policemen across Canada. I was operating under this one day I caught a young man driving for in excess of the posted speed limit which was 80 miles per hour at that time. I gave him a ticket and in less than one hour his mother (whom I will call Mrs. Jones) was at our office saying that her son would never do anything like speeding and that we should be on catching the real crooks and to stop bothering poor defenceless little boys. As I look would have been the following week one of my fellow workers who was also working under speed limit and gave a ticket to another young man who was also speeding. As I turned out this curved when I was a policeman in Ontario and I am positive that this type of incident has happened to policemen across Canada. I was operating under this one day I caught a young man driving for in excess of the posted speed limit which was 80 miles per hour at that time. I gave him a ticket and in less than one hour his mother (whom I will call Mrs. Jones) was at our office saying that her son would never do anything like speeding and that we should be on catching the real crooks and to stop bothering poor defenceless little boys. follow about his use of Mrs. Jones's younger children and also about the fact that he was driving with a child in the back seat. When the judge asked for clarification of his statement, he related the following story, or should I say fairy tale. I just went into the tavern to have a cold draft because it was very hot that day and I had a very hard day at the office. I only intended to have just one draft but you know how these tavern keepers are. They just keep on bringing the draft and before you know it I was late and had to get home. As I paid my bill and left. The only reason the police caught me is because those tavern keepers and the police work together. They get on drunk and then they call the police.

Blueberries are elusive

By Linda Chivers

Blueberries are a very elusive berry, at least to me. While neighbours go off to "search" berry spots and come home with baskets full, I have to tramp a mile through heavy brush to find one plant to draw a picture from.

The blueberry plant is a short, much branched shrub with dense, leaved leaves alternating on the branches. The berries are 1 to 1.5 mm in diameter. Each one has a long stem. White neighbours go off to "search" berry spots and come home with baskets full, I have to tramp a mile through heavy brush to find one plant to draw a picture from.

For the crust, sift together 2 cups flour, 1/2 grow in clusters, and are deep blue or purple with a powdery blue bloom. The skin, not the surface. Blueberry pie is a well known favorite, as are blueberry jams, jellies and muffins.

For a blueberry sauce, combine 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Mix well, then add 1 cup from blueberries, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

teaspoon salt and 1/2 cup butter. Mix well. It resembles fine bread crumbs. Add 1 cup milk and blend to make a soft dough. Roll out the dough 1/2 inch thick and cut into six inch squares. Place an equal amount of filling on each square. Wrap the dough around and seal tightly. Bake the dumplings in a covered casserole or serve placed over boiling water for 40 minutes. Serve warm.

(Continued from page 6) were generally well behaved, and mostly always on a leash or tied up. Only one night was I kept awake by barking dogs, which, as far as I was concerned, was one too many.

I hope I haven't labelled myself as a dog hater. I'm not. I think dogs are beautiful. I just have no desire to travel with one.

For those who do, it's their responsibility to look after the welfare of the animals, be considerate of other on-agers, and most of all respect the wildlands and wildlife that we as humans keep intruding upon.

If you ever take a long trip and spend your nights in campgrounds, don't be surprised at what you may see in the way of pests. We camped across from a family from California who shared their school bus holiday with a dog, a white rabbit, a duckling and a young rooster.

PROPANE: the now alternative to gasoline

Since 1973, the rapidly growing cost of gasoline and the unsettled supply situation, even here in Canada, has spurred Canadians to seek alternative fuel supplies. Of the many alternatives available, propane is the most practical fuel to power vehicles for the eighties:

Why convert your gasoline fleet to ICG AUTO-PROPANE?

- More plentiful
- Longer engine life
- Cuts down servicing
- But most important....
- More efficient

ICG can deliver ICG AUTO-PROPANE to you for at least 30¢ per gallon less than you'd pay for gasoline.

Federal Government incentive

In order to encourage conversion from gasoline to propane, the Government of Canada will rebate $400. of the cost of conversion of fleets.

This request is a substantial proportion of the total cost of converting the average vehicle.

Equipment Inventory

ICG and Gillis Oilfield Construction Ltd. keeps an inventory of ICG AUTO-PROPANE/IMPCO parts on hand for rapid conversion of large or small fleets on short notice. In addition to ensuring safety of supply through our local warehousing of conversion components, we are embarked upon an aggressive program to have as many of these components manufactured in Canada as possible.

Supper held for bride

By Margaret Bels

542-5423

On Aug. 15 a pot luck supper and bridal shower was hosted by the ladies of the Alliance Church in honor of Linda and Terry Leisig.

Mary McBride, sister of the groom, acted as Linda's maid of honor.

Following the service and the wedding supper was held at the community hall. The new couple will make their home in Edmonton.

Beta, Maribel and Lynn Vidarsen enjoyed a holiday in British Columbia. Among friends visited were Doreen and Marie Laid, formerly of this district.

Rich Grunth, mother of Don Grunth, former manager of the "wedding dress" shop in the Warburg district.

In the absence of Rev. Geoffrey Carby, who is on holiday, lay minister Jim McDonald at the United Church on Aug. 22 was Valeria Yardley to Miss Fitzgerald of Edmonton.

Field of honor at the ceremony was Alice Moore, with Willie Yardley as bridesmaid. Groomsmen were Walter Yardley and Donald Wilson. The wedding supper and dance were held in the Agriplex.

The young couple will make their home in the Warburg district.

AGT and RCMP

Combat telephone fraud

A combined AGT/RCMP unit has been formed to combat the growing problem of telephone fraud. The AGT/RCMP unit was a joint effort of the AGT and RCMP.

AGT/RCMP investigation units located in various areas of the Red Deer area. The nearest unit to the pay phone in question was advised, and if a fraudulent call was apprehended, an AGT/RCMP officer would make the arrest. An AGT officer would also be on hand to hang up and verify the pay phone number with the operator.

Excuses,

So as you can see it is not your fault, but it is our fault, or at least that is what I am constantly being told.

Big Wound
This office and the schools of Drayton Valley and Red Deer are helping and give moral support to the many people of the area. These young people do a fantastic job and honestly need a little help from the parents and the citizens of Drayton Valley.

You would be required to help at the Red Deer office for about 15 minutes during Monday to Friday evening hours. Volunteers are needed to help the patients at the Red Deer office, Elementary B and St. Anthony.

If you can spare some of your free time, please contact this office at 664-4444 and leave your name, address and phone number and someone will be in contact with you. The smiles and thank you's that you will receive from the little ones will be most rewarding.

The Red Deer office, set up to receive calls from pay telephones, was a first for AGT. A group of four local RCMP officers, five AGT field investigators, along with several operators and internal security staff took part in the operation.

When an AGT operator received a call telephone being billed to that party, the call was processed and the third party billing information verified. If the information was false or misreported, the operator immediately notified subject security personnel who contacted radio dispatched

Prepare them for school

Thousands of children will soon be starting school again. The Home Safety Committee of the Alberta Safety Council urges the following reminders about the health and safety of kindergarten and young school children.
As immunization booster is due between the ages of four and six and is lost given before the child starts school, although it can be given during the kindergarten year. If your child has never been immunized, a complete series will be necessary, but this can be done over four months. All these injections can be given at your family doctor's office.
If your child has never mixed much with other children, he will probably develop more complex and mild than usual the winter. If he has a fever of over 102 degrees F. for longer than 24 hours he should be seen by a doctor. A high temperature should be brought down by sponging with cool water.
Ear aches, especially if accompanied by a fever, are important and the child should be seen by a doctor.
Cold weather can start as early as September. Check last year's gloves and warm socks and buy new ones, if necessary. In good time, so your child has probably grown about last winter.
Try to be at home when the child returns, or if this is impossible, make a definite arrangement with a family member or other school group to act as a substitute for you.
In the case of those children who will be crying to school, make sure that their bites are in good condition, especially those

Improve facial tones

By Linda Glavin
Facial exercises that make you look 10 if you are 30, or 30 again if you are 40, but they can make you look 10, composed and healthy.

These pages is a complete set of exercises. Facial exercises are part of many of the postures. The inverted postures are all good for the complexion. There are also specific exercises just for the face.

In general, healthy food is reduced, always drink this out, and the muscles improve in tone, firmness and health.

Begin seated with the back straight, and the chin level.

Draw down the corners of the mouth, and hold for six seconds. Relax the face for 30 seconds, then repeat for another six seconds.

Bring the lips upward toward the nose, then downward toward the chin. Do each six times. Repeat 30 seconds, then bring the lips toward the right, then toward the left. Bring toward each side six times. Then rest for 30 seconds.

Put out your left cheek for six seconds, then the upper lip for six seconds, then the right cheek, and finally the lower lip, each for six seconds.

Purrow your brow in an exaggerated way. Hold for six seconds, then relax. Repeat for an additional six seconds.

Close of the skin, and feeding the face through balanced nutrition are also an important part of having a glowing complexion.

For those days when I feel too tired to move, and

Have a whole day of running around to do, I steam my face I pour boiling water over chamomile flowers in a bowl, drop a towel hood over my head, and relax, inhaling the steam.

For a facial, try mixing wheat germ with yogurt to form a smooth paste. Apply it smoothly over the face. Rinse off with warm water after 10 minutes.

Yogurt may also be used as a cleansing cream, with lemon juice or apple cider vinegar and water as an astringent.

Since your face tells so much about you, put your best face forward. The upper lip indicates your desire to love, the lower lip your desire to be loved. A very heavy lower lip indicates selfishness, a heavy upper lip vulnerability. This lips show confidence or detachment.

Authors give new perspective

By Phil Hunter
We had a long trip this summer and part of our 42 carried on through the West.

There are two men living in that state who have written about guns and hunting and I wanted to meet them both. Bob Hagel lives in Gibsonsburg. His book, Guns, Law and the Western Hunter is the American Hunter, is one of my favorites.

I have reported in this article many of the ideas Mr. Hagel has expressed in his book because I feel these ideas are so valid.

Gibsonsburg is a small village nestled in some of the most beautiful country we saw on the whole trip.

Mr. Hagel's house was easy to find and as one might expect he was in his shop out behind the house working on a gun.

I would have liked to spend more time talking to him but we were on our way to California and he was busy.

Jack O'Connor called Mr. Hagel a "rugged-hunter" and he has had a lot of field experience. He struck me as that sort of a person too.

He was friendly and happy to stop and spend some time talking to me.

He wanted to know about the hunting conditions in Alberta and if there was any serious threat to the game population.

After a brief chat I got my copy of his book autographed and went on my way.

I am really impressed by this man, as I say by his book, and having met him I can go through the book understanding a little more about why it was written.

From the Gun Rack

The book Guns, Law and Practical Solutions for the American Hunter would be a valuable addition to any person's information for the hunter.

Fifty some odd miles north of Gibsonsburg is Salmon, the home of Bruce Keith.

Now I have read a lot of material written by Mr. Keith. I find it entertaining, and at times infuriating.

He has talked about shooting a deer at 600 yards with a 44 magnum handgun. He has said the 445 Winchester magnum is a lovely cartridge for deer.

But Mr. Keith has had a lot of experience with guns and he is not a novice. He is a hunter and he is a writer.

He was responsible for the development of the 44 magnum handgun and partly responsible for the development of the Winchester model 70.

I stopped to see Mr. Keith and found him a most interesting man. He was friendly and invited me into his house to have a visit.

He showed me through a trophy room which I found impressive.

He was prepared to spend some time with me but my wife and daughter were waiting for me so I had to go after about a half hour with him.

I bought his book, From the Gun Rack, and it is a most interesting book. I have read it and enjoyed all of it. It is 406 pages with easy to read print and lots of interesting pictures.

It is not a book on hunting but rather Bruce Keith's life story. It is based through with his "big bear" philosophy and because he is so accurate in his respect you may find it a little irritating.

Regardless of my personal view I do recommend From the Gun Rack, because it is really good reading.

There, because it is really good reading. I am not a hunter and I am not a writer. I am just a person who likes to read and I am sure that you will find it interesting.

As you may be aware, during the archery season antelope season may be taken. I got down for antelope season in area P400 this year.

RECRUITS REQUIRED

Male and female 13 years or older by December 31, 1981.

1981-82 Cadet year starts Thursday September 3 at 1900 hrs. (7 p.m.). Frank Maddock High School Gym. Bring birth certificate and a parent to sign application forms.

The busy of all breeds would be that this year I will get a snow during the archery season. That means I will have used my money tag before the antelope season opens for release.

By the way, I have lived in Alberta for eight hunting seasons, and this is the first time I have been successful in the three.

That is enough for today. Good hunting.

On the 25th of August, the altar of the Drayton Valley United Church for the wedding of Mary Ann and Gerry Bouchard was decorated with white and pink flowers. The bride, Mary Ann, was wearing a white gown with a long train and a full skirt. She was holding a bouquet of white and pink flowers. The groom, Gerry, was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt. They were standing in front of the altar, which was decorated with white and pink flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold Haverthorne. The wedding took place at 2:30 p.m. on August 25, when Shirley Mary, youngest daughter of Mrs. William Haverthorne, was the bride's flower girl. The bride's bridesmaids were Mrs. Haverthorne, Mrs. Haverthorne, and Mrs. Haverthorne. The groom's best man was Mr. Haverthorne. The wedding reception was held at the Drayton Valley United Church. The bride and groom were accompanied by their families. The wedding was a private ceremony. The bride and groom were married in the presence of their families and friends. Local cadets do well

By Lois Dyck

Wendy Nelson, daughter of Jim and Gladys Nelson of Drayton, has just won a trophy for her company, E.C.O.P. This was a mixed group of over 100 young people. She received a trophy and a plaque for being the top female athlete for track and field for the whole camp.

They had a source on supplying and learning how to use the compass. Wendy received a A-1 in the course. Every Friday evening they had a parade on the square. They had three bands that played in the parade.

The Nelsons went to Vernon for a weekend and were quite impressed with the parade at the camp.

Dr. Nelson, son of Clara and Olga Nelson of Drayton, was another cadet who went to Vernon. Drayton was the captain of the rifle team. At the graduation ceremony Drayton was the only one to win a trophy for their company. The Nelsons were very proud of their son's achievement. They were very happy to see him at the graduation ceremony. They were very proud of their son's achievement. They were very happy to see him at the graduation ceremony.

Oil pros and cons

By Kenneth Greenleaf

Reactions to the oil pricing agreement have ranged over a wide range of emotions from disappointment to relief. Many of those involved in the agreement since information is still rather limited.

"We had to make a forecast when you don't know the value of the oil game," says Bob Housler of the Energy Services Association of Alberta.

The oil industry is still trying to sort out the details of the settlement.

In some, however, the known facts are disappointing.

On the information which is presently available "it would appear that the settlement has done nothing to change the economy of the country in general and certainly nothing for the economy of our town," says Bud Byram.

The president of the Energy Services Association of Alberta added that Drayton Valley is unlikely to benefit from the settlement because its economy is heavily dependent upon an old economic child.

From the releases which have been circulated to date, a number of issues have been raised.

In the information it would appear that the settlement in the industry will be less in 1981-82 than even that which was provided for in the National Energy Policy of October, 1980, says Mr. Byram.

He added that not only will industry costs increase under the settlement but

Caution merchants

Local merchants should exercise caution when cashing cheques, says a spokesman for the RCMP.

The warning follows recent bad cheques which have been found in the area.

According to Constable Doug Hill, when cashing a cheque the merchant should ask for identification and copy the pertinent details on the back of the cheque.

The latest form of identification is a driver's license. It is a photo accompanying it. Both parts of the license should be used for identification, says Constable Hill.

Other forms of identification such as birth certificates may also be used.

YSD strike is over

An agreement between the Yellowhead School Division (YSD) and CUPE local 238 on Thursday brought an end to a two and one-half month strike by clerical workers.

The dispute, which began last June, was settled by the union following to all-day meetings between the two bargaining teams.

Under the new agreement the workers will receive a 18 per cent increase in wages in 1981. The agreement also includes a job evaluation which our division has always enjoyed, says Klaus Fahlman, superintendent of schools.

Employees involved in the dispute returned to work on September 5.

"We are happy that this matter has been settled and look forward to resuming the good working relationship which our division has always enjoyed," says Klaus Fahlman, superintendent of schools.

Marjory Taylor, president of local 238, stated that she was pleased that the negotiations had been brought to a successful conclusion.

Oil price hike to help growth

By Kenneth Greenleaf

The oil pricing settlement of last week will not only have to affect on the oil industry but also on the town of Drayton Valley.

Town officials are expecting a rise in the growth rate not to mention indirect benefits such as increased housing, construction and development.

The population in Alberta is expected to rise by 800,000 over the next few years. An increase of this magnitude means that towns can expect a steady growth rate of 0.5 per cent a year.

This is an increase from the 0.3 per cent growth rate which was expected before the settlement, says the town manager.

Murray Dowd added that it is unlikely that Drayton Valley will return to a boom town situation.

The settlement will help to establish long term guidelines for the industry.

then providing businesses with a greater stability, says Mr. Dowd.

It should cut down on the fluctuations currently felt in the industry, he says.

If the business remains more stable then it will also prove beneficial to the town. "If everyone does a good business it reflects on the town," says Mayor Bob Mayhew.

A settlement means things will get back to normal and the businesses in the area will pick up, he says. Not only will the work load increase, but also everyone will be busier.

"The effect of increased work will whiplash down to the boy in the grocery store packing groceries. He'll also be busier," he adds.

Mayor Mayhew went on to say that changes won't happen in a month or two. It will take upwards of a year before things settle back down to the way they were.

Plan meeting

Mayor Bob Mayhew is writing to a promise to town residents made in July. A public meeting has been set for Monday, Sept. 11 at 7:00 p.m. so residents can question council members on their performance.

A location for the meeting will be announced later. Mr. Mayhew requested that questions be submitted in writing to the town office prior to the meeting. This, he said, would give council a chance to check notes and be prepared to answer all questions.

Additional questions will be entertained from members of the audience during the meeting as well.

School In

Many kids outside St. Anthony's School this week were a new step that school was back in after the two-month summer break.
